

Arts Project needs part-time teachers

THE Community Arts Project (CAP) is looking for part-time teachers to co-ordinate and develop their photography workshop, sculpture workshop and children's art and drama classes.

CAP aims to promote critical and emancipatory art education, and provide opportunities for groups and individuals interested in developing their creative abilities.

Situated in Chapel Street, Woodstock, CAP offers part-time classes in drama, dance, painting, life-drawing and etching as well as full-time art and drama classes.

Children's art classes are held every Saturday and applicants must have had experience in teaching art to children.

Part-time photography classes are held twice a week for adults and teenagers.

Interviews will be held on January 23 and 24, and duties will begin on January 27.

Applications, together with a curriculum vitae, must be sent to the secretary, Community Arts Project, PO Box 168, Rondebosch 7700, before January 17.
